Listed below are several Online/phone apps that can help co-parents. The apps can put all communication and information about the child/ren in a central location for the co-parents to access at any time. Most of the apps allow co-parents to communicate online, share calendars, change/schedule exchanges, share medical information, update contact information, share expenses, reminders, events, journal, etc.

Some of the apps allow you to request copies of communication exchanges for legal purposes. Some apps have a higher cost than others and offer different features. Research the apps and use the one best suited for your situation.
